Deborah B. Diercks, M.D., MSc, FACEP is Professor and Chair of the Department of Emergency Medicine at UT Southern Medical Center where she holds the Audre and Bernard Rapport Distinguished Chair in Clinical Care and Research. As a nationally recognized leader in the specialty, Dr. Diercks oversees the emergency medicine programs at UT Southern University Hospital and Parkland Health & Hospital Systems, which together constitute one of the largest emergency medicine programs in the nation.

Dr. Diercks is the 2015-2016 President of the Society for Academic Emergency Medicine and is on the Board of Directors for the Society of Chest Pain Centers. Additionally, she is active in several committees of the American College of Cardiology, American Heart Association, and American College of Emergency Physicians.

Topic: “Balance in Emergency Medicine”

Time: 11:00 a.m.-12:00 noon

Date: June 14th, 2016

Place: Steiner Auditorium
(Grady Campus)